Who exactly is Phaniel?

Phaniel is a young man who has worked tirelessly on his studies for the past several years, and has been accepted into university. He beats the odds, as the chances of a student from Haiti receiving a post-secondary education are rare. A degree would help Phaniel, his family, and his entire community. Funds for fees are not available, and Phaniel's parents pray daily for their son's education. For students in the Peel Region, helping Phaniel demonstrates the significance of education, and is an example of the power that each individual has to make a difference in the world!
